

Because THANK YOU isn't enough

Horace Mann is giving all educators complimentary access to its Student Loan Solutions suite of student loan management resources in appreciation for all they're doing during the COVID-19 pandemic.

The pandemic is taking its toll — 37% of educators are enjoying their work in education less than they were a year ago.

"Distance learning is extremely hard on small children."

"I worry about my students even more now."

"The amount of work is overwhelming."

Horace Mann is on a mission to help educators achieve financial success so they can stay in the profession they love — throughout the pandemic and beyond.

Access to Horace Mann's wealth of student loan management resources can help educators address one of their major financial concerns and help keep good teachers in education.
